Tuesday 01st October- St Thérèse de Lisieux- 10am & 7pm

"Jesus is pleased to show me the only road which leads to this divine furnace, and this road is the abandonment of the little child who sleeps without fear in his father's arms." We can all often overcomplicate the road to heaven. It is easy to agonise over the path to get there, or to see it as a complicated list of challenges that we must complete, or even as an exercise in showing our own determination and brilliance. However, the great nineteenth-century saint and youngest ever Doctor of the Church, St Thérèse of Lisieux, reveals that in fact the way to holiness is far simpler.

In fact, it can be summed up in two words: "abandonment" and "love".
